

i believe this will enrage certain passsesngers and endanger flight crews. these are times the traveling public wants to rest during the flight, especially when certain flyers are nervous flying. this action will disrrupt cabin service and the peace onboard airliners and should not be allowed not to mention the uncertanty of inflight communicatons being disrrupted.